Nutricia is a specialised business of Danone, focused on pioneering nutritional discoveries that help people live healthier and longer lives. Nutricia aims to establish nutrition as an integral part of healthcare, expanding Danone’s mission to bring health through food to as many people as possible. Nutricia’s extensive range of evidence-based nutrition products and services offer proven benefits and better patient outcomes. The company works with doctors and healthcare professionals in 40 countries to deliver better care and to lower the cost of care. Nutricia serves patients in hospitals, care home settings and in the community. Nutricia offers innovative products and services for the management of infants and children with cow’s milk allergy.